KENTUCKY

Population 2,553,000 (U. S. Census Bureau Estimate, 1928)

State Capital, FRANKFORT

Kentucky is bounded north by Ohio and Indiana, northwest by Illinois, east by West Virginia and Virginia, south by Tennessee and west by Missouri; greatest length from east to west, 350 miles; greatest breadth, 178 miles; land area, 40,181 square miles. The surface in the east and southeast is mountainous, being broken by numerous parallel ranges of the Alleghany system, with deep and fertile valleys. Northwest of this section, and in the centre of the state, is the famous blue grass region, with a gently undulating upland surface and deep valleys at the rivers. Between the Green and Cumberland Rivers the surface is level and known as the "Barrens," from the scarcity of heavy timber. The western part is generally level, with slight undulations. The soil of the whole state is remarkably fertile; that part between Lexington and the Ohio River is known as the "Garden of Kentucky."

Population, 1920 census. White people, 2,180,560; of this number 30,780 are foreign-born, 5,956 are from the British Isles, Germans 11,137. Remainder from other European and Asiatic countries. Negroes 235,938. Urban residents 633,543, rural 1,783,087. Percentage of illiterates: in the state 8.4; of the foreign-born white 7.3; of the negroes 21.0.

Agriculture. Kentucky ranked eighteenth in 1927 in the total value of agricultural products, value $376,000,000; value of crops $204,000,000; value of live stock products, $172,000,000. In 1920 there were 270,626 farms with an average size of 79.9 acres, 51.6 acres improved. The number of farms increased 11,441 since 1910. The white farmers, all native Americans, except 1,112, numbered 275,998. There were 12,624 negro farmers; 3 Indians and 1 Chinese. Tenants operated about 90,330 farms; 83,056 of the tenants were white and 7,274 negroes. There is an important production of honey. The 1920 crop weighed 1,604,519 pounds, value $449,265.

LOUISIANA

Population 1,950,000 (U. S. Census Bureau Estimate, 1928)

State Capital, BATON ROUGE

Louisiana is bounded north by Arkansas and Mississippi, east by Mississippi and the Gulf of Mexico, south by the Gulf of Mexico, and west by Texas. Its extreme length from east to west is about 300 miles, breadth 240 miles. Total land area, 45,409 square miles. The surface is generally low and level. There are low hills in the north and northwest, from which the land slopes gradually to the Mississippi and the Gulf. Much of the land along the river is below the water level during the spring freshets, and is protected from overflow by levees, which are built on both banks below Baton Rouge, and on the west bank throughout the state. Many of the principal rivers and bayous are protected in like manner so that but a small portion of the land is subject to overflow. The extent of navigable water surpasses that of any other state in the Union, as also does the area of alluvial land. The soil of the river bottoms is exceedingly fertile and is almost entirely silt brought down by the Mississippi River. It yields large crops of cotton, sugar cane and rice. The prairies are productive and afford good pasture in places. The hilly section yields good cotton crops, but about half is covered with pine barrens. The climate is semi-tropical, very warm and moist in summer with little cold weather in winter.

Population, 1920 census. White people, 1,096,611; of this number 44,871 are foreign-born, 4,364 from the British Isles, Italians 16,264, Germans 5,147. Remainder from other European and Asiatic countries. Negroes 700,257. Urban residents 628,163, rural 1,170,346. Percentage of illiterates: in the state 21.9; of the foreign-born white 21.9; of the negroes 38.5.

Agriculture. Louisiana ranked thirty-first in 1927 in the total value of agricultural products, value $186,000,000; value of crops, $157,000,000; value of live stock products, $29,000,000. In 1920 there were 135,463 farms with an average size of 74 acres, 41.5 acres improved. Owners or managers operated 58,082 farms; tenants 77,381. White farmers numbered 73,404; colored 62,059. More than half of the white farmers and five-sixths of the negro farmers were tenants. The agricultural staples are cotton, sugar, rice and corn but other crops are grown. Nearly all of the sugar cane produced in the United States comes from Louisiana. The sugar production has rapidly increased in recent years. The genuine Perique tobacco is only grown in this state. Irrigation is in use on nearly one-half million acres in the southwestern parishes and furnishes the rice crop with the deep water needed for its growth.

Chief Crops—1928	Production	State's Rank	Value	Acreage	Average Acre Yield
Corn	21,114,000 bu.		$19,847,000	1,242,000	17.0 bu.

Pecans	1,650,000 lbs.	8	248,000
Sugar (Cane)	165,391 tons	1
Sugar Cane (Sirup)	8,061,000 gals.	1	4,434,000	23,000	346 gals.
Total estimated value of 22 leading crops		29	$114,716,000

From U. S. Agr. Dept. Report, Dec., 1928.

Fisheries. The fish caught during 1927 weighed 56,208,309 pounds, value $2,863,497. This is an increase over 1923, of 21,373,000 pounds and $902,000. The most valuable catches were shrimp, oysters, sea trout, red fish. State ranked tenth in value of catch.

Forests. The wooded area in 1920 was estimated to cover 17,365,000 acres. The principal species of timber cut during 1926 was yellow pine. The state ranked first in the production of red gum, cypress, tupelo and ash. In 1927 there were 237 active mills, cutting over 50,000 feet, lumber sawed 2,385,724 (m.ft.b.m.). State ranked fourth in lumber sawed and in production of shingles, third in production of lath.

Furs. Fur trapping is an important industry. Pelts of all kinds taken in the state during the season of 1925-1926 numbered 6,731,265. This exceeds the Canadian catch by two million. The numerous swamps and bayous make an ideal home for the muskrat, which furnishes about six million of the total number of pelts and is half of the total muskrat catch of North America.

Industries. In 1925, there were 1,742 manufacturing establishments doing an annual business of $5,000 or over, a decrease of 39 since 1923, employing 88,058 wage earners. Annual value of products, $710,050,100. Some leading industries according to value of products are: lumber and timber products; petroleum and sugar refining; food preparations; rice cleaning and polishing; cottonseed-oil, cake and meal; alcohol, ethyl; bags, not paper.

Minerals. The 1927 mineral production had a value of $51,267,000. State ranked twenty-third in value of minerals. Principal products are: petroleum, natural gas, salt.

General. The fisheries, especially oyster and shrimp fisheries, form an important industry. On account of the great extent of navigable waters, of which the state has 4,800 miles and the network of railroads penetrating every part of the state, the products of Louisiana's fields, mines, factories and fisheries are readily and rapidly moved, and none of the state's resources need be neglected for lack of transportation facilities. New Orleans is the leading city and an important port. Exports are mainly cotton, cottonseed and wheat, flour and rice. This city is famous as a winter resort and has many historical attractions as well as picturesqueness.

MAINE

Population 795,000 (U. S. Census Bureau Estimate, 1928)

State Capital, AUGUSTA

Maine is the most northeasterly state in the Union, bounded on the north by Quebec and New Brunswick, east by New Brunswick, south by the Atlantic Ocean, and west by New Hampshire and Quebec; its extreme length is 302 miles, width 285 miles, which is extended to 2,500 miles by the many indentations. Total land area, 29,895 square miles. The northern part is mainly a wilderness of forest land with rugged surface and groups of detached mountains, thinly peopled, except in the fertile tracts of Aroostook county. In the northeast, on the St. John River, are several French Canadian settlements. The southern part is varied, seldom much broken, and has tracts of great fertility, while others are only moderately fertile, especially in the southeast. Water power is abundant and regular and available for manufacturing purposes.

Population, 1920 census. White people, 765,695; of this number 107,349 are foreign-born, 13,209 from the British Isles, French Canadians 35,580, Canadians 38,840. Remainder from other European and Asiatic countries. Urban residents 299,569, rural 468,445. Percentage of illiterates: in the state 3.3; of the foreign-born white 11.1.

Agriculture. Maine ranks thirty-fifth in total value of agricultural products, value $123,000,000; value of crops, $74,000,000; value of live stock products, $49,000,000. There were 48,227 farms with an average size of 112.5 acres, 41 acres improved. Nearly all are operated by their owners, there being only 2,004 tenant farmers in the state. About ten per cent of the state's farms are operated by foreign-born people, chiefly Canadians. The potato crop is large and excellent, and Maine potatoes bring high prices as seed potatoes. The principal fruit is the apple.

Chief Crops 1928	Production	State's Rank	Value	Acreage	Average Acre Yield

Total estimated value of 22 leading crops		36	$39,222,000

From U. S. Agr. Dept. Report, Dec., 1928.

Fisheries. The fish caught during 1924 weighed 116,707,179 pounds, value $4,136,989. This is a decrease over 1919 of 31,249,190 pounds, and an increase of $247,954. The most valuable catches were lobster, cod, haddock, herring. State ranked ninth in value of catch.

Industries. In 1925, there were 1,500 manufacturing establishments doing an annual business of $5,000 or over, a decrease of 142 over 1923, employing 73,849 wage earners. Annual value of products, $371,849,483. Some leading industries according to value of products are: paper and wood pulp; cotton worsted and woolen goods; timber and planing mill products; canning and preserving vegetables; fruit; shrimp, oysters, fish, crabs and clams; foundry and machine shop products; wood, turned and carved; shirts. 369,615,000 feet of lumber cut in 1924.

General. The seaboard towns enjoy a large coasting and West Indian trade. Maine is a fishing, hunting and summer resort of great popularity, and sportsmen and summer visitors spend from $12,000,000 to $15,000,000 there every year.

MARYLAND

Population 1,616,000 (U. S. Census Bureau Estimate, 1928)

State Capital, ANNAPOLIS

Maryland is bounded north by Pennsylvania, east and southeast by Delaware and the Atlantic Ocean, west by West Virginia, and south and southwest by Virginia, West Virginia and the District of Columbia. The Chesapeake Bay divides the greater part of it into two unequal parts, known as the Eastern and Western Shores. Its extreme length from east to west on its northern border is 198 miles, and its width, following the course of the Potomac River, varies from 3 or 4 miles to about 120 miles; land area, 9,941 square miles. The surface of the Eastern Shore is mostly level, and in parts low and swampy, but towards the north, rocky and broken. The Western Shore, between the Potomac River and Chesapeake Bay, presents mainly the same general features. The northwest is very mountainous; five or six ridges of the Alleghenies, principally the Blue and Laurel, traverse that section. In the extreme west are the beautiful elevated valleys named "glades." The mountain slopes are thickly wooded.

Population, 1920 census. White people 1,204,737; of this number 102,177 are foreign-born, 13,884 from the British Isles, Germans 22,032, Russians 24,791. Remainder from other European and Asiatic countries. Negroes 244,479. Urban residents 869,422, rural 580,239. Percentage of illiterates: in the state 5.6; of the foreign-born white 13.4; of the negroes 18.2.

Agriculture. Maryland ranked thirty-fourth in 1927 in total value of agricultural products, value $134,000,000; value of crops, $82,000,000; value of live stock products, $52,000,000. The soil of the Eastern Shore and the lower part of the Western is generally light and sandy, well adapted for peaches and market gardening. The central and northern parts are very rich, yielding large crops of tobacco, wheat, oats and corn. In 1920 there were 47,908 farms with an average size of 99.3 acres, 65.5 acres improved. Owners operated 32,805; managers, 1,262 and tenants, 13,841. White farmers numbered 41,699, 11,332 tenants. Negro farmers 6,209, 2,509 being tenants. A very important agricultural industry in the eastern portion of the state is the growing of vegetables and fruits for shipment to the northern markets and for the numerous canneries in the state. The 1920 crop of vegetables had a value of over $9,000,000.

MASSACHUSETTS

Population 4,290,000 (U. S. Census Bureau Estimate, 1928)

State Capital, BOSTON

Massachusetts is bounded north by Vermont and New Hampshire, east by the Atlantic Ocean, south by the Atlantic Ocean and by Rhode Island and Connecticut and west by Rhode Island and New York. Its extreme length is 160 miles, and breadth from 47 to about 90 miles; land area, 8,039 square miles. The surface is greatly diversified; mountainous in the extreme west, hilly and broken in the east and northeast, and in the southeast mainly low and sandy. Toward the west is the fertile valley of the Connecticut River. The mountains are the Taconic and the Hoosac (continuations of the Green Mountain ranges of Vermont) with detached members of the White Mountains.

Population, 1923 census. White people, 3,803,524; of this number 1,077,534 are foreign-born, 301,098 from the British Isles, Canadians 154,787, French Canadians 108,691, Italians 117,007, Russians 92,034. Remainder from other European and Asiatic countries. Negroes 45,466. Urban residents 3,650,248, rural 202,108. Percentage of illiterates: in the state 4.7; of the foreign-born white 12.8; of the negroes 6.8.

Agriculture. Massachusetts ranked thirty-seventh in 1927 in the total value of agricultural products, value $101,000,000; value of crops, $48,000,000; value of live stock products, $53,000,000. The soil in the hilly regions is not remarkably favorable for agriculture, being usually shallow and stony, but energy and intelligence have succeeded in making it very productive. The Connecticut valley, however, can hardly be excelled for fertility. In 1920 there were 32,001 farms, average size 77.9 acres, 28.4 acres improved. There was a decrease of 4,916 in the number of farms since 1910 and a decrease of 381,464 acres in the amount of farm land. 87.8 per cent of the farms are worked by their owners, 5.1 per cent by managers and 7.1 per cent by tenants. 22,950 farms are operated by native white citizens, 8,930 by foreign-born people, 103 by negroes and 18 by Indians. The tobacco crop, grown entirely in the Connecticut valley, is a valuable one. It produces cigar wrappers of high quality, excelled in this country only by those grown further down the river, in Connecticut. Massachusetts leads in the production of cranberries and according to the 1920 census in the production of other small fruits. Onions are an important product.

Chief Crops—1928	Production	State's Rank	Value	Acreage	Average Acre Yield
Corn	1,890,000 bu.		$2,457,000	45,000	42.0 bu.
Cranberries	325,000 bbls.	1	4,875,000	13,900	23.4 bbls.
Hay (Tame)	717,000 tons		13,695,000	460,000	1.56 tons
Oats	224,000 bu.		157,000	7,000	32.0 bu.
Potatoes	1,620,000 bu.		1,458,000	15,000	108 bu.
Tobacco	9,462,000 lbs.		3,225,000	7,600	1,245 lbs.
Chief Fruits:
Apples	2,700,000 bu.		3,375,000
Grapes	476 tons
Peaches	189,000 bu.		435,000
Pears	56,000 bu.		95,000
Miscellaneous Crops (Leading States only)
Maple Sirup	67,000 gals.	8
Maple Sugar	134,000 lbs.	4
Onions	840,000 bu.	8	848,000	3,500	240 bu.
Total estimated value of 22 leading crops..		39	$29,436,000

From U. S. Agr. Dept. Report, Dec., 1928.

Fisheries. The fish caught during 1924 weighed 243,362,693 pounds, value $10,799,598. This is a decrease over 1919 of 3,588,548 pounds and $60,148. The most valuable catches were cod, mackerel, haddock, flounders, lobsters, halibut, clams, oysters. State ranked first in value of catch.

Industries. In 1925 there were 10,027 manufacturing establishments doing an annual business of $5,000 or over, a decrease of 492 over 1923, employing 591,498 wage earners. Annual value of products, $3,426,617,326. Some leading industries according to value of products are: cotton, woolen and worsted goods; boots and shoes; electrical machinery and apparatus; dyeing and finishing textiles; paper and wood pulp; leather, leather goods; rubber goods, including tires and inner tubes; slaughtering and meat packing; knit goods. Massachusetts is the leading center of the American cotton, shoe, leather, wool and paper trades. The chief seats of the shipbuilding interests are Boston, Quincy, Newburyport and Salem. Fall River, Lowell, New Bedford and Lawrence are, in the order named, the chief cotton manufacturing centers of the country.

Minerals. The 1927 mineral production has a value of $16,295,000. State ranked thirty-fifth in value of minerals. Principal products were stone, clay products, sand and gravel, lime.

General. The state has been assisting the country districts by building good roads in various places, and there are now 6,575 miles of hard surfaced roads in the state. The Cape Cod Canal, an eight mile cut, 25 feet deep, between Buzzard's Bay and Sandwich, finished during 1914, enables coasting vessels to avoid the long trip around Cape Cod peninsula and shortens the distance between Boston and New York by over seventy miles. There are numerous colleges, including some of the country's most famous, both for men and women. The coast towns and the "hill towns" west of the Connecticut River are popular summer resorts, the valley of the Housatonic, in Berkshire county, having hundreds of summer residences belonging to wealthy citizens of New York, Boston and other large cities.

MICHIGAN

Population 4,591,000 (U. S. Census Bureau Estimate, 1928)

State Capital, LANSING

Michigan is bounded north by Lake Superior, east by Lakes Huron, St. Clair and Erie and their connecting rivers, south by Ohio and Indiana and west by Wisconsin and Lake Michigan; land area, 57,480 square miles. It consists of two peninsulas, of which the southern is the principal seat of wealth and population, its length, north to south, being about 300 miles; width, about 200; coast line of state on lakes not less than 1,600 miles. This part of the state is a very level region, abounding in lakes and streams, with extensive forests of pine and other timber in the north, oak openings or natural parks in the south and prairies in the southwest. There are over 6,000 lakes, large and small, which are popular resorts of anglers and summer visitors. The northern peninsula is more rugged in surface and its chief industries are copper and iron mining and lumbering.

Population, 1920 census. White people, 3,601,627; of this number 726,635 are foreign-born, 78,045 from the British Isles, Canadians 147,267, Poles 103,926, Scandinavians 38,773, Dutch 33,499. Remainder from other European and Asiatic countries. Negroes 60,082. Urban residents 2,241,560, rural 1,416,852. Percentage of illiterates: in the state 3.0; of the foreign-born white 9.9; of the negroes 4.2.

Agriculture. Michigan ranked fifteenth in 1927 in the total value of agricultural products, value $487,000,000; value of crops, $268,000,000; of live stock products, $219,000,000. The soil contains sufficient sand to make it easily tilled, and few districts excel Michigan as a farming region. Peppermint (about 9,000 acres being planted annually) and celery are grown extensively in the southwest, and pears, peaches and grapes in the southwest and west. Over 23 million quarts of small fruits other than strawberries and cranberries are produced each year. In 1920 there were 196,447 farms, a decrease of 10,513 since 1910. They averaged 96.9 acres in size, with 65.8 acres improved. 17.7 per cent of the farms are worked by tenants. Native white farmers operate 147,450 farms; foreign-born, 48,264 farms.

Chief Crops—1928	Production	State's Rank	Value	Acreage	Average Acre Yield
Barley	5,301,000 bu.		$4,029,000	186,000	28.5 bu.

From U. S. Agr. Dept. Report, Dec., 1928.

Michigan ranks fourteenth in the aggregate value of live stock, value $178,000,000. On January 1, 1929, there were on farms: 1,841,000 milk cows, value $83,259,000; sheep 1,380,000, value $15,121,000. Dairy products (1925) had a value of $68,098,869 and the amount of butter made on the farms during that year was 20,350,351 pounds. The state ranks eighth in number of dairy cows, tenth in sheep and fifth (1925) in dairy products.

Fisheries. The fish caught in the lakes during 1927 weighed 37,328,000 pounds, value $3,273,000. The most valuable catches were lake trout, white fish, lake herring, mullet.

Industries. In 1925, there were 5,600 manufacturing establishments doing an annual business of $5,000 or over, a decrease of 97 since 1923, employing 515,494 wage earners. Annual value of products, $4,373,186,136. Principal manufactures according to value of products are: motor vehicle; automobile bodies and parts; foundry and machine shop products; iron and steel forgings; furniture; engine and water wheels; paper and wood pulp; brass, bronze and other nonferrous alloys; slaughtering and meat packing; lumber and timber products; butter, cheese, condensed and evaporated milk; chemicals; electrical machinery apparatus and supplies; wire work; hardware; flour and grain mill products, and many others.

Minerals. The 1927 mineral production had a value of $124,030,000. State ranked ninth in value of minerals. Principal products were iron ore, copper, cement, sand and gravel.

General. The great extent of the coast line gives Michigan a commanding position in lake commerce. The ship canal at Sault Ste. Marie handles more traffic than any similar thoroughfare in the world. In 1921, 48,259,254 tons passed through, nearly three times as much as went through the Suez canal and more than three times as much as went through the Panama canal in that year.

MINNESOTA

Population 2,722,000 (U. S. Census Bureau Estimate, 1928)

State Capital, ST. PAUL

Minnesota is bounded north by Ontario and Manitoba, east by Wisconsin and Lake Superior, south by Iowa, and west by North and South Dakota. Its extreme length from north to south is 380 miles; breadth varies from 183 miles in the center to 262 on the south line, and about 330 on the north border; land area, 80,858 square miles. The climate, although the cold during the winter season is somewhat severe, is healthful and invigorating. The surface is generally an undulating plain, diversified with rolling prairies, dotted with lakes and groves, with frequent timber belts. The northeast is generally hilly and was formerly entirely covered with immense forests. The greater part of the salable pine has been cut, but there is a vast quantity of valuable timber, both pine and hardwood, still standing. There are thirty-two varieties of marketable timber found in the state. The lumber output of 286 mills in 1914 was 1,312,230,000 feet. This region also contains innumerable lakes, which abound with almost every species of fresh water fish; and much marsh land. The Red River valley is almost a dead level. The southeast is a beautiful rolling prairie region, while the surface rises from the undulating prairies of the south and southwest to the Hauteur des Terres or Heights of Land in the northwest. The temperature shows wide extremes with an annual mean of 39°. The climate is particularly healthful and the long summer days are extremely favorable for the growth of vegetation, especially grain crops. The rainfall averages 28½ inches, which provides ample moisture for all crops which can be grown in Minnesota.

Population, 1920 census. White people, 2,368,936; of this number 486,164 are foreign-born, 26,035 from the British Isles, Scandinavians 219,209, Germans 74,634. Remainder from other European and Asiatic countries. Negroes 8,809. Urban residents 1,051,593, rural 1,335,532. Percentage of illiterates: in the state 1.8; of the foreign-born white 5.4; of the negroes 3.1.

Agriculture. Minnesota ranked eleventh in 1927 in total value of agricultural products, value $621,000,000; value of crops, $374,000,000; value of live stock products, $247,000,000. The soil is fertile, about two-thirds of it being adapted to the cultivation of cereals and general farm produce, although little more than one-third of this is under cultivation. In 1920 there were 178,478 farms, of these 132,744 were operated by owners and 44,138 by tenants, the remainder being operated by managers. The farms averaged 169.3 acres in size, 120.4 acres improved. Native white farmers operated 110,966 farms; foreign-born farmers, 67,305, of which 34,985 came from Scandinavian countries.

From U. S. Agr. Dept. Report, Dec., 1928.

Minnesota ranks fifth in the aggregate value of live stock, value $300,000,000. On January 1, 1929, there were on the farms: 787,000 horses, value $64,712,000; milk cows, 1,483,000, value $126,055,000; cattle, other than dairy cows, 1,254,000, value $47,448,000; hogs, 3,302,000, value $52,653,000; poultry (1925), 16,408,080. State ranks second in horses and third in milk cows and dairy products (1925), fourth in hogs, eighth in cattle other than dairy cows, ninth in poultry and tenth in poultry products (1925). Poultry products (1925) had a value of $34,823,588; dairy products (1925), $81,351,771.

In the five year period from 1920 to 1925 the butter production of Minnesota nearly doubled, the increase being from 139 million pounds to 265 million pounds. There were 825 creameries in the state in 1925, 660 of them co-operative. The substantial monthly payments made to the farmers for their dairy products make it possible for them to meet their current obligations.

Industries. In 1925, there were 3,888 manufacturing establishments doing an annual business of $5,000 or over, a decrease of 12 since 1923, employing 100,614 wage earners. Annual value of products, $1,101,855,604. Some leading industries according to value of products are: flour mill and grain mill products; slaughtering and meat packing; butter, cheese, condensed and evaporated milk; motor vehicles; linseed oil, cake and meal; foundry and machine shop products; planing mill and timber products; paper and wood pulp; bags, not paper; knit goods; fur goods.

Minerals. The 1927 mineral production had a value of $102,973,000. State ranked thirteenth in value of minerals. Principal products were iron ore, stone, cement, clay products.

General. This state produced nearly a third of the country's white pine in 1920. It is estimated that the state's streams have sufficient undeveloped water power to supply the future needs of every industry, public or private, in the state. There are productive fisheries of white fish and lake trout in Lake Superior.

MISSISSIPPI

Population 1,790,618 (U. S. Census Bureau, 1920)

State Capital, JACKSON

Mississippi is bounded north by Tennessee, east by Alabama, south by the Gulf of Mexico and Louisiana and west by the Mississippi River, which separates it from Louisiana and Arkansas. Its extreme length from north to south is 332 miles; average breadth, 142 miles; land area, 46,362 square miles. The surface is generally hilly or undulating, except in the Mississippi bottom, from Vicksburg to the Tennessee line and between the Mississippi and Yazoo Rivers, where it is low and swampy, subject to inundation and covered with a dense growth of timber, but with soil which, if reclaimed, would be exceedingly fruitful. Below Vicksburg the surface for some miles inland is hilly and known as the "cane hills" or "bluffs" and with a generally productive soil. There is a very fertile prairie region in the northeast where alfalfa, producing from three to five heavy crops each year, is one of the chief crops. The southern part is chiefly a level pine region and furnishes good pasturage and quantities of timber, tar and turpentine. The soil of this tract, although sandy, is with suitable fertilization particularly well adapted to truck farming and is being largely taken up for that purpose as soon as the timber is cut off.

Population, 1920 census. White people, 853,962; of this number 8,019 are foreign-born, 1,173 from the British Isles, Italians 1,841. Remainder from other European and Asiatic countries. Negroes 935,184. Urban residents 240,121, rural 1,550,497. Percentage of illiterates: in the state 17.2; of the foreign-born white 13.3; of the negroes 29.3.

Agriculture. Mississippi ranked twenty-third in 1927 in total value of agricultural products, value $306,000,000; value of crops, $240,000,000; value of live stock products, $66,000,000. Agriculture is the prevailing industry. In 1920 there were 272,101 farms, with an average size of 66.9 acres, 34.3 acres improved. As in the south generally, the system of tenant operation is prevalent. 179,802 farms, nearly two-thirds of the whole number, are worked by tenants; 91,310 by their owners, and 989 by managers. White farmers number 110,882, 68,131 being owners; colored farmers number 161,249, 23,179 being owners. Almost all farmers are native Americans, the foreign-born numbering only 603. While cotton is still the principal crop, diversified farming is increasing in popularity with benefit both to the land and the farmers. In the coast counties the growing of semi-tropical fruits has proved profitable. The swamp lands are being cleared and are unexcelled for fertility. The soil has been enriched and augmented in depth by the alluvial deposits of the two rivers. Over 1,600,000 acres are already reached by the various drainage systems in operation.

Total estimated value of 22 leading crops		19	$176,896,000

From U. S. Agr. Dept. Report, Dec., 1928.

Fisheries. The fish caught during 1927 weighed 37,831,000 pounds, value $1.450,000. This is an increase over 1923 of 9,471,000 pounds and $273,000. The most valuable catches were clams, oysters, mullet, crabs, sea trout.

Forests. The wooded area in 1920 was estimated to cover 17,000,000 acres. The farm woodlands cover 5,447,097 acres. The principal species of timber cut in 1926 was yellow pine. The state ranked first in the production of yellow pine and cottonwood. In 1927 there were 837 active mills cutting over 50,000 feet, lumber sawed 2,556,612 (m.ft.b.m.). State ranked third in lumber sawed and fourth in the production of lath.

Industries. In 1925, there were 705 manufacturing establishments doing an annual business of $5,000 or over, an increase of 470 over 1923, employing 55,171 wage earners. Annual value of products $200,453,028. Some leading industries according to value of products are: planing mill and timber products; cottonseed-oil, cake and meal; cotton goods; canning and preserving of fish, clams, shrimp, crabs, oysters, fruit and vegetables; wood preserving; turpentine and resin; beverages; fertilizers; flour and other grain mill products; butter, cheese, condensed and evaporated milk and many others.

General. Commerce is carried on principally through New Orleans and Mobile; coasting and river trade is large. The coast ports of Gulfport and South Pascagoula have a large commerce which is growing rapidly, both in exports and imports.

MISSOURI

Population 3,523,000 (U. S. Census Bureau Estimate, 1928)

State Capital, JEFFERSON CITY

Missouri is bounded north by Iowa, east by Illinois, Kentucky and Tennessee, south by Arkansas, west by Oklahoma, Kansas and Nebraska; length, north to south, 277 miles; average breadth, about 244 miles, ranging from 208 miles in the north to 312 miles in the south; land area, 68,727 square miles. The Missouri River divides the state into two distinct parts. The surface north of the river is generally nearly level, while that south of it is undulating, becoming rougher and somewhat mountainous as it approaches the Ozark Mountains. There are also open, treeless plains, an extension of those in Kansas; and in the southeast, bordering on the Mississippi River, is an extensive marshy tract, called the "Sunk Country," the result of the earthquake of 1811-12. Plans have been made to reclaim the lands along the Mississippi and Missouri Rivers and their tributaries, by levees along the great rivers and by drainage canals in the valleys of the smaller rivers and by this means large tracts of swamp lands and other tracts subject to destructive overflows, can be profitably tilled.

Population, 1920 census. White people, 3,225,044; of this number 186,026 are foreign-born, 29,301 from the British Isles, Germans 55,776, Russians, 18,769. Remainder from other European and Asiatic countries. Negroes 178,241. Urban residents 1,586,903, rural 1,817,152. Percentage of illiterates: in the state 3.0; of the foreign-born white 9.6; of the negroes 12.1.

Agriculture. Missouri ranked fourth in 1927 in total value of agricultural products, value $749,000,000; value of crops, $318,000,000; value of live stock products, $431,000,000. The state contains many varieties of soil. In 1920 there were 263,100 farms with an average size of 132.2 acres, 94.4 acres improved. 185,030 farms were operated by their owners; 2,247 by managers and 75,727 by tenants. Only 8,343 farmers are of foreign birth, the majority being Germans. White farmers numbered 260,178; colored 2,826.

From. U. S. Agr. Dept. Report, Dec., 1928.

Missouri ranks ninth in aggregate value of live stock, value $236,000,000. On January 1, 1929, there were on the farms: 574,000 horses, value $30,572,000; mules, 313,000, value $23,377,000; milk cows, 810,000, value $59,940,000; cattle other than dairy cows, 1,299,000, value $61,865,000; hogs, 4,070,000, value $49,641,000; poultry (1925), 28,222,087. State ranks second (1925) in poultry; seventh in mules, fifth in hogs, sixth in cattle other than dairy cows; eighth in dairy cows. Poultry products (1925) had a value of $60,394,198; dairy products (1925), $28,638,424.

Industries. In 1925, there were 5,114 manufacturing establishments doing an annual business of $5,000 or over, a decrease of 87 since 1923, employing 194,959 wage earners. Annual value of products, $1,607,161,018. Some leading industries according to value of products are: slaughtering and meat packing; boots and shoes; motor vehicles; grain and flour mill products; foundry and machine shop products; men's clothing; electrical machinery; food preparations; lumber and timber products; patent medicines and compounds; paints and varnishes; bags, not paper; clay products; automobile bodies and parts; furniture; iron and steel, and many others.

Minerals. The 1927 mineral production had a value of $75,890,000. State ranked seventeenth in value of minerals. Principal products were lead, clay products, cement, coal.

General. The eastern border has about 500 miles of water front on the Mississippi, the Missouri traverses the state from west to east, and these two with other rivers, give the state fully 1,000 miles of navigable waterways.

MONTANA

Population 548,889 (U. S. Census Bureau Estimate, 1928)

State Capital, HELENA

Montana is bounded north by Saskatchewan and Alberta, east by North and South Dakota, south by Wyoming and Idaho and west by Idaho; length, east to west, about 540 miles; breadth, about 280 miles; land area, 146,131 square miles. Montana's total area is 94,000,000 acres, classified into mountainous, 26,000,000 acres; farming lands, 30,000,000 acres; grazing lands, 38,000,000 acres. The farming lands of Montana are equal in area to the state of Iowa; the Indian and forest reservations to the state of Georgia and the mountain and grazing lands to the state of Indiana. The Rocky Mountains occupy the western two-fifths of the state's area, east of them the country forms part of the "Great Plains." The Missouri is navigable for steamboats as far as Fort Benton. The Yellowstone is navigable during high water. The lowest altitude is 1,800 feet above sea level, while Granite Peak, in Carbon county, reaches a height of 12,850 feet.

Population, 1920 census. White people, 534,260; of this number 93,620 are foreign-born, 19,578 from the British Isles, Canadians 12,489, Scandinavians 20,131. Remainder from other European and Asiatic countries. Indians 10,956, Japanese 1,074. Urban residents 172,011, rural 376,878. Percentage of illiterates: in the state 2.3; of the foreign-born white 5.6.

Agriculture. Montana ranked twenty-seventh in 1927, in total value of agricultural products, value $252,000,000; value of crops, $166,000,000; value of live stock products, $86,000.000. This state will always be an important factor in the stock raising industry, as more than half its surface can never be successfully cultivated, but must be devoted to other purposes. The area of cultivated land is rapidly increasing, but not more than 10 per cent of the land capable of tillage has been improved. While Montana has always been considered a mining state, the agricultural production is nearing the total of mineral production. In 1920 there were 57,677 farms, having more than doubled from 1910. The average size was 608.1 acres, 190.8 acres improved. Most of the farms are operated by owners. 6,507, or 11.3 per cent being let to tenants. Native white farmers numbered 41,051; foreign-born white, 16,563, about a third being of Scandinavian birth; Indians 987 and a few negroes and Orientals. One-third of the population is engaged in agriculture. Nearly all staple crops known to northern states are grown in Montana. Fruit growing is becoming an important industry and a large acreage of fruit trees has been set out. According to the 1925 census Montana had 761,569 fruit trees. Government and private irrigation projects are in course of construction and will bring into use large tracts of land in northern Montana. In 1920, 10,807 farms, with an area of 1,681,729 acres, were irrigated and the enterprises were capable of irrigating 1,071,769 acres more. "Dry farming" is also being practiced with a considerable degree of success in districts adapted to it.

NEBRASKA

Population 1,408,000 (U. S. Census Bureau Estimate, 1928)

State Capital, LINCOLN

Nebraska is bounded north by South Dakota, east by Iowa and Missouri, south by Kansas and Colorado and west by Colorado and Wyoming. Its extent from north to south is about 210 miles; greatest length about 420 miles; land area, 76,808. The surface is generally a vast, gently undulating plain, with a gradual ascent toward the mountains; the river bottoms are level. There are some bluffs along the Missouri River, some hills in the northwest, a small part of this region being occupied by the Mauvais Terres or Bad Lands. The state is well watered, three large rivers, the Niobrara, the Platte and the Republican, crossing it from west to east, while the Missouri River flows for 500 miles along the eastern border. The Missouri is the only navigable river. East of the Bad Lands and south of the Niobrara is a tract called the Sand Hills region, 8,000 square miles area, the valleys of which produce an abundance of corn and wheat, while the rest of the country is used for cattle. Timber is scarce.

Population, 1920 census. White people, 1,279,219; of this number 149,652 are foreign-born, 13,670 from the British Isles, Scandinavians 33,328, Germans 40,969. Remainder from other European and Asiatic countries. Negroes 13,242, Indians 2,888. Urban residents, 405,306, rural 891,066. Percentage of illiterates: in the state 1.4; of the foreign-born white 6.4; of the negroes 4.8.

Agriculture. Nebraska ranked sixth in 1927 in the total value of agricultural products, value $724,000,000; value of crops, $425,000,000; value of live stock products, $299,000,000. The eastern half of the state is a rich agricultural region. The west is mainly adapted to grazing, but farms are being taken up in many districts and half of the land area of the state is now under cultivation. Irrigation projects in the valleys of the Platte and other rivers supply an area of nearly half a million acres. In 1920 there were 124,417 farms with an average size of 339.4 acres, 185.7 acres improved. Owners operated 69,672 farms or 56 per cent; managers operated 1,315 or 1.1 per cent; tenants operated 53,430 or 42.9 per cent. There was a decrease in owner operation of 12.1 per cent in ten years, an increase in manager operation of 33.2 per cent and an increase of tenant operation of 8.1 per cent. The native white farmers numbered 99,441, the foreign-born white, 24,592. Of these Germany furnished 9,505 and Scandinavian countries, 6,355. More than 150 species of wild grasses have been classified, which afford excellent pasturage for live stock.

NEVADA

Population 77,407 (U. S. Census Bureau, 1920)

State Capital, CARSON CITY

Nevada is bounded north by Oregon and Idaho, east by Utah and Arizona and southwest and west by California. Extreme length from north to south, 485 miles in the eastern and 210 miles in the western boundary; greatest breadth, 320 miles, decreasing to 310 miles in the north and to a point in the south; land area, 109,821 square miles. Surface generally is desert land and averages 5,500 feet above the sea. It is traversed by nearly parallel mountain ranges, between which are valleys varying in width from 5 to 20 miles. The highest point is Boundary Peak, in Esmeralda county, about 13,145 feet, the lowest is along the Colorado River in Clark county, 470 above sea level.

Population, 1920 census. White people, 70,699; of this number 14,802 are foreign-born, 2,679 from the British Isles, Italians 2,641, Mexicans 1,177, Germans 1,069. Remainder from other European and Asiatic countries. Indians 4,907. Urban residents 15,254, rural 62,153. Percentage of illiterates: in the state 5.9; of the foreign-born white 8.5.

Agriculture. Nevada ranked forty-seventh in 1927 in the total value of agricultural products, value $25,000,000; value of crops, $9,000,000; value of live stock products, $16,000,000. The state lies almost wholly in the "Great Basin," the most arid region of North America, but it has been possible, by storing the waters of its mountain streams, to reclaim over half a million acres by irrigation. Several irrigation enterprises have been completed, supplying 2,718 farms and there are numerous others planned and under construction and the agricultural interests are steadily increasing. The number of farms increased from 2,689 in 1910 to 3,163 in 1920. Their average size was 745.2 acres; 188 acres improved. Tenants operate 296 or 11.1 per cent of the farms; 2,699 by owners and 168 by managers. 2,060 are run by native white people; 884 by foreign-born; 208 by Indians and 11 by negroes and Orientals.

NEW HAMPSHIRE

Population 456,000 (U. S. Census Bureau Estimate, 1928)

State Capital, CONCORD

New Hampshire is bounded on the north by Quebec, east by Maine and the Atlantic Ocean, south by Massachusetts and west by Vermont. Its length is 180 miles from north to south; its extreme breadth 93 miles; average breadth 50 miles; land area, 9,031 square miles. Most of the state, except the southeastern part, has a rough and hilly surface. In the northern part are the White Mountains. The state is generally well wooded and the yield of timber is very large. The valley of the Connecticut is famed for the beauty of its farms and villages.

Population, 1920 census. White people, 442,331; of this number 91,233 are foreign-born, 14,150 from the British Isles, French Canadians 38,277, Canadians 14,035. Remainder from other European and Asiatic countries. Urban residents 279,761, rural 163,322. Percentage of illiterates: in the state 4.4; of the foreign-born white, 15.4.

Agriculture.—New Hampshire ranked forty-fifth in 1927 in total value of agricultural products, value $48,000,000; value of crops, $22,000,000; value of live stock products, $26,000,000. In productions, the hay crop is by far the most valuable and while this is steadily increasing the agricultural interests have for some years been gradually declining. The farms, which numbered 27,053 in 1910, were 20,523 in 1920. The census gives them an average area of 126.9 acres, 34.2 acres improved. 90.6 per cent of the farms are operated by their owners, 2.7 per cent by managers and 6.7 per cent by tenants. 17,904 are worked by native Americans; 2,619 by immigrants, more than half of these being Canadians. While there are some very fertile tracts among the valley lands, the greater part of the surface is rugged and stony and much more valuable as woodland or pasture than as tilled land.

Chief Crops—1928	Production	State's Rank	Value	Acreage	Average Acre Yield
Corn	560,000 bu.		$672,000	14,000	40.0 bu.
Hay (Tame)	647,000 tons		9,123,000	459,000	1.41 tons
Oats	390,000 bu.		254,000	10,000	39.0 bu.
Potatoes	1,656,000 bu.		1,325,000	12,000	138 bu.
Chief Fruits:
Apples	1,000,000 bu.		1,100,000
Grapes	91 tons
Peaches	25,000 bu.		60,000
Pears	9,000 bu.		15,000
Total estimated value of 22 leading crops		45	$12,632,000

From U. S. Agr. Dept. Report, Dec., 1928.

Industries. In 1925, there were 1,038 manufacturing establishments doing an annual business of $5,000 or over, a decrease of 40 since 1923, employing 66,658 wage earners. Annual value of products, $327,400,651. Some leading industries according to value of products are: cotton goods; boots and shoes; paper and wood pulp; woolen goods; foundry and machine shop products; knit goods; textile machinery and parts; wooden boxes; boot and shoe findings.

General. New Hampshire has an almost perfect summer climate, especially in the central and eastern portion and the scenery throughout the state is remarkable for its beauty, that in the White Mountain district being unsurpassed in all the eastern states. Visitors from the other New England states and from many other parts of the country spend the summer months here and the hotel and boarding house industry is one of considerable magnitude. It is estimated that summer visitors leave about $10,000,000 in the state each year. The state government, recognizing the value of good roads, is constructing three trunk line highways extending from the Massachusetts line to the White Mountains.

NEW JERSEY

Population 3,821,000 (U. S. Census Bureau Estimate, 1928)

State Capital, TRENTON

New Jersey is bounded north and northeast by New York, east by New York and the Atlantic Ocean, south by the Atlantic Ocean and Delaware Bay, and west by Delaware and Pennsylvania. Its extreme length is 167 miles; its greatest breadth 59 miles and its least 32 miles; land area, 7,514 square miles. The surface is mountainous in the northwest, hilly in the northern and central parts, low and gently undulating in the south. The mountains, a part of the Appalachian system, are the Kittatinny or Blue and the Highland Range. Between them lies the productive Kittatinny Valley, about 10 miles wide.

Population, 1920 census. White people, 3,037,087; of this number 738,613 are foreign-born, 131,868 from the British Isles, Italians 157,285, Germans 92,382, Poles 90,419, Scandinavians 21,722. Remainder from other European and Asiatic countries. Negroes 117,132. Urban residents 2,474,936, rural 680,964. Percentage of illiterates: in the state 5.1; of the foreign-born white 15.3; of the negroes 6.1.

Agriculture. New Jersey ranked thirty-sixth in 1927 in the total value of agricultural products, value $108,000,000; value of crops, $60,000,000; value of live stock products, $48,000,000. The agricultural products of the state generally, especially market garden produce, are valuable. The central part is the most thickly settled and is, in fact, a vast market garden for New York and Philadelphia and the fruits and vegetables from this region are of a quality which is not surpassed anywhere. Quantities of grapes and small fruits are grown in the south and the chief cranberry counties are Ocean, Atlantic and Burlington. Tomato growing for the canneries is important. In 1920 there were 29,702 farms with an average size of 76.8 acres, 52.4 acres improved. 77 per cent are worked by owners or managers, 23 per cent by tenants. Native white farmers number 22,555; foreign-born, 6,612; negro, 531; Indian, 1; Orientals, 3.

Total estimated value of 22 leading crops		40	$29,370,000

From U. S. Agr. Dept. Report, Dec., 1928.

Fisheries. The fish caught during 1926 weighed 73,299,123 pounds, value $6,254,264. This is a decrease over 1921 of 23,638,000 pounds and an increase of $271,000. The most valuable catches were oysters, crabs, weak fish, lobster, sea bass, shad. The state ranked sixth in value of catch.

Industries. In 1925, there were 8,204 manufacturing establishments doing an annual business of $5,000 or over, a decrease of 447 since 1923, employing 425,377 wage earners. Annual value of products, $1,336,586,000. Some leading industries according to value of products are: petroleum refining; smelting and refining; silk; chemicals; rubber goods; foundry and machine shop products; motor vehicles; electrical machinery and apparatus; tobacco; cigars and cigarettes; dyeing and finishing textiles; slaughtering and meat packing; worsted goods; canning and preserving fruit and vegetables, jellies, pickles and sauces; iron and steel; soap. New Jersey leads all the states in the manufacture of china and sanitary ware. Mercer county is the chief seat of the pottery industry and Middlesex county of the brick and tile manufactures.

Minerals. The 1927 mineral production had a value of $67,833,000. State ranked eighteenth in value of minerals. Principal products were clay products, zinc, cement, stone.

General. Newark, the metropolis, has a population of 415,609 and its manufacturing industries are said to be more important in proportion to population than those of any other city in the United States. Jersey City, Hoboken, New Brunswick, Trenton and Camden all are seats of numerous manufacturing industries, the latter cities' factories producing almost every kind of manufactured goods. New Jersey has a large coast trade. The state is well provided with marine transportation, as three-fourths of her border is on navigable waters. An inland waterway is now being constructed, which will provide a sheltered channel from the northern end of Ocean county to Cape May, about four-fifths of the whole ocean coast of the state. It will have a minimum width of 100 feet and a low water depth of six feet. Plans are being made for a canal from the Delaware, near Bordentown, to the ocean. The state is celebrated for its good roads. Besides numerous other institutions of learning there are three famous colleges—Princeton, Rutgers and the Stevens Institute of Technology.

NEW MEXICO

Population 396,000 (U. S. Census Bureau Estimate, 1928)

State Capital, SANTA FE

New Mexico is bounded north by Colorado, east by Oklahoma and Texas, south by Texas and Mexico and west by Arizona; greatest length, north to south, 390 miles, average width, 335 miles. Land area, 122,503 square miles. Its general surface is a region of desert plateaus, traversed by mountain ranges with isolated peaks. The valleys are generally nearly level and their soil fertile. In the southeast is a part of the "Llano Estacado" or "Stake Plain." Some of this region is being brought into use under the modern systems of "dry farming" for arid and semi-arid lands. The state's average height above sea level is 5,700 feet, lowest elevation 2,876 feet. The climate is very dry, the weather station at Santa Fe showing the lowest per cent of humidity in the United States with the exception of the station at Yuma, Arizona.

Population, 1920 census. White people, 334,673; of this number 29,077 are foreign-born, 1,841 from the British Isles, Mexicans 20,272, Italians 1,678, Germans 1,178. Remainder from other European and Asiatic countries. Indians 19,512. Urban residents 64,960, rural 295,390. Percentage of illiterates: in the state 15.6; of the foreign-born white 27.1.

Agriculture. New Mexico ranked forty-second in 1927 in the total value of agricultural products, value $75,000,000; value of crops, $32,000,000; value of live stock products, $43,000,000. In 1920 there were 29,844 farms with an average size of 817.9 acres, 57.5 acres improved. 12.2 per cent are operated by tenants. Native white farmers, 26,593; foreign-born, 1,376; negroes, 32; Indians, 1,833; Orientals, 10. The mesas, or table lands, occupy a large part of the surface, placing stock raising and wool growing among the leading occupations; the bunch grass affords rich pasturage and neither hand feeding nor shelter is necessary. The soil, when sufficient water can be had, shows wonderful fertility and the days of continual sunshine are especially favorable to the development of plant life. Agriculture is becoming, with the development of the various irrigation projects, the leading industry of the state. There are extensive systems of water storage and irrigation on the Pecos, Rio Grande and other large rivers, which, with works projected, will reclaim three or four million acres. Many farmers are irrigating their own land by means of artesian wells. There are over 700 of these in Chaves and Eddy counties. There are many other river valleys of high fertility, whose soil is susceptible of irrigation. Over 15,000,000 acres have sufficient annual rainfall to be classed as "dry farming" land and the flow of immigration into these districts is rapid and continuous. New Mexico has over 3,000,000 acres farmed by this system at the present time. Apples, peaches, melons, figs, apricots, pomegranates and grapes are grown in commercial quantities.

From U. S. Agr. Dept. Report, Dec., 1928.

On January 1, 1929, there were on the farms: 2,362,000 sheep, value $24,415,000. State ranks eighth in sheep. The wool clip in 1928 weighed 12,400,000 pounds and mohair weighed 629,000 pounds, giving the state third place in the production of mohair and ninth in wool production.

Industries. In 1925, there were 200 manufacturing establishments, an increase of 14 over 1923, employing 4,629 wage earners. Annual value of products, $19,458,985. Some leading industries according to value of products are: lumber, timber and sawmill products; flour and grain mill products; butter, cheese, condensed and evaporated milk.

Minerals. The 1927 mineral production had a value of $28,609,000. State ranked twenty-eighth in value of minerals. Principal products were copper, coal, zinc, petroleum.

General. A fine system of public roads has been planned, comprising over 1,000 miles through various parts of the territory, the work being done by convict labor. Several hundred miles have already been surveyed. The state is becoming more and more popular as a resort for health seekers and tourists, also as a hunting region.

NEW YORK

Population 11,550,000 (U. S. Census Bureau Estimate, 1928)

State Capital, ALBANY

New York is bounded on the north and northwest by Lake Ontario and the provinces of Ontario and Quebec, east by Vermont, Massachusetts, Connecticut and the Atlantic Ocean, south by the Atlantic Ocean, New Jersey and Pennsylvania and west and northwest by Pennsylvania and Lake Erie. Its greatest length from north to south is 312 miles; its greatest breadth 412 miles; land area, 47,654 square miles. The surface is exceedingly diversified.

Population, 1920 census. White people, 10,172,027; of this number 2,786,112 are foreign-born, 464,707 from the British Isles, Italians 545,173, Russians 529,243, Germans 295,651. Remainder from other European and Asiatic countries. Negroes 198,483. Some Indians, Chinese and Japanese. Urban residents 8,589,844, rural 1,795,383. Percentage of illiterates: in the state 5.1; of the foreign-born white 14.2; of the negroes 2.9.

Agriculture. New York ranked tenth in 1927 in the total value of agricultural products, value $658,000,000; value of crops, $306,000,000; value of live stock products, $352,000,000. Most of the soil is arable, much of it exceedingly fertile. There were 193,195 farms in the state in 1920. They averaged 106.8 acres, 61.8 acres improved. 151,717 were operated by their owners; 4,376 by managers and 37,102, or 17.3 per cent by tenants. 25,776 of the 193,195 farmers were foreign-born; 245 negroes, 299 Indians and 6 Orientals. Of the foreign-born farmers, 8,683 were from English speaking countries and 5,838 from Germany. New York produces nearly every kind of fruit, vegetable, grain and forage crop that can be grown in the temperate zone. Wisconsin and New York together produce about two-thirds of all the peas used by canneries in the United States. New York is also noted for its production of grapes, being second only to California. New York holds first place in the sale of milk and cream for fluid use and in the production of several specialized dairy products. Both Wisconsin and Minnesota exceed New York in the number of dairy cows and in the production of milk. These states, however, specialize in the butter and cheese industries. New York is exceeded only by Wisconsin in the total amount of condensed and evaporated milk produced and led all the states in the production of powdered whole milk, powdered skim milk, powdered cream and milk sugar in 1925. New York was exceeded only by California in the output of dried casein and in ice cream second only to Pennsylvania. The amount of creamery butter manufactured in 1925 was 16,761,787 pounds; American Whole Milk or Cheddar cheese, 37,535,229 pounds; other cheese, 18,339,236 pounds. New York ranked second in the value of dairy products in 1925 having $118,303,772. The production of honey in 1920 was 3,223,323 pounds, value $934,768, giving the state third place.

women's and men's clothing; foundry and machine shop products; electrical machinery apparatus and supplies; slaughtering and meat packing; fur goods; millinery and lace goods; boots and shoes; knit goods; sugar refining; motor vehicles; flour and grain mill products. State ranks first in manufactures.

Minerals. The 1927 production of minerals had a value of $111,580,000. State ranked eleventh in value of minerals. Principal products are clay products, stone, cement, gypsum.

General. Water-power is abundant. There is over 10,000,000 potential horse-power, of which more than 1,500,000 horse-power has already been developed. Transportation facilities in New York are of the best. Railroads penetrate everywhere. The Erie Barge Canal, which is mainly the historic Erie Canal, deepened and improved at a cost of over $150,000,000, connects the great lakes with the Hudson River. The main canal runs from the Niagara River to the Hudson River at Troy, with branches to Lake Ontario at Oswego and from the Hudson to Lake Champlain at Whitehall. Other branches connect through Lake Cayuga, with Ithaca and with Geneva on Lake Seneca. It has a depth of twelve feet and the locks are forty-five feet wide and three hundred feet long, permitting vessels of 2,500 tons to pass, without transferring cargo, from any of the lake ports to the ocean. All fixed bridges over the canal allow a head room of 15½ feet above high water. The state has appropriated $50,000,000 to be expended at the rate of $5,000,000 per year, together with a like sum from the counties, in improving the roads. The state ranked fourth in 1922, with a surfaced road mileage of 18,566. This is being increased every year.

NEW YORK†, pop. 6,017,500 Gov't Est. 1928, (H17&N17); New York Co. (SE), pop. 1,945,028 and Bronx Co. (SE), pop. 872,168. The city is divided into five boroughs: Manhattan, 1,945,029; Bronx, 872,168; Brooklyn, 2,203,991; Queen's, 713,891; Richmond, 138,277. New York and Bronx Boroughs are served by the New York post-office and only the publications in these two boroughs are listed here. Publications in Brooklyn Borough are entered at the Brooklyn post-office and will be found under Brooklyn. There are numerous post-offices in Queen's Borough and the publications issued therein will be found under their proper post-offices. Richmond Borough publications are served by the Staten Island post-office and will be found under Staten Island. On Manhattan Island at mouth of Hudson River and on L. I. Sound, East River and New York Bay. Terminal of 14 important railroads, including the Erie; N. Y. Cent.; Penna. and Cent. RR. of N. J. Tel, express, banks. Federal Reserve Bank. Has one of the finest harbors in the world, and is the commercial and financial metropolis of the United States. The foreign commerce of New York comprises more than half the entire import and export trade of the nation. The tonnage entered in the port, which includes Newark and Perth Amboy, for the calendar year ending in 1925 was 19,209,707 tons, clearances, 20,834,840 tons. Its domestic commerce is still greater, a large portion of the country drawing its supplies from this city. Manufactures are important and have grown rapidly. There are over 25,000 manufacturing establishments and some of the most important ones are clothing, printing and publishing, millinery and lace goods, bakery products, fur goods, slaughtering and meat packing, tobacco, cigars and cigarettes, knit goods, boots and shoes, furniture, foundry and machine shop products, musical instruments. The total value of the goods manufactured in 1923 in Greater New York was $5,349,077,002. Approximately two-thirds of this was produced in New York City proper, consisting of Manhattan and Bronx. Columbia University, New York University, Cooper Institute, Colleges of Medicine, Law and Theology and many others. Jews number about 30 per cent. of the population.

NORTH CAROLINA

Population 2,938,000 (U. S. Census Bureau Estimate, 1928)
State Capital, RALEIGH

North Carolina is bounded north by Virginia, east and southeast by the Atlantic Ocean, south by South Carolina and Georgia and west by Tennessee. Its extreme length from east to west is 490 miles; extreme breadth, 185 miles; land area, 48,740 square miles. The surface is varied. For nearly 100 miles inland from the coast the country is level, marshy and swampy; soil sandy but very fertile. It is estimated that there are nearly 3,000,000 acres of swamps in this region, which is known as the "Tidewater" section. Next is the middle or "Coastal Plain" section, with varied surface and fine soil. West of this is the "Piedmont" section, a fine farming region, producing North Carolina's staples, cotton and tobacco, in abundance, as well as large crops of wheat and other grain. It is a land of fertile valleys and gently sloping hills, increasing in altitude until they reach the "Mountain" region in the west. Some of the peaks in the Black Mountains and the Blue Ridge attain an elevation of from 5,000 to 6,000 feet, the highest land east of the Rocky Mountains. This region contains good grazing land, with much hard timber. The scenery is remarkably beautiful, and the climate is such that it is becoming a popular health and pleasure resort. In the coast region the river bottoms and reclaimed swamp lands are very fertile and well adapted to the growing of cotton, corn, apples, peaches and pears. Frost is rare and the rainfall averages 60 inches. The pine region is being settled as the timber is cut off, but the forests are still extensive and a large trade is done in timber, tar and turpentine.

Population, 1920 census. White people, 1,783,779; of this number 7,099 (less than one-half of 1 per cent) are foreign-born, 1,741 from the British Isles, Russians 932, Germans 703. Remainder from other European and Asiatic countries. Negroes 763,407. Urban residents 490,370, rural 2,068,753. Percentage of illiterates: in the state 13.1; of the foreign-born white 6.8; of the negroes 24.5.

Agriculture. North Carolina ranked sixteenth in 1927 in the total value of agricultural products, value $487,000,000; value of crops, $399,999,999; value of live stock products, $88,000,000. Cotton is grown chiefly in the southern and central counties. The middle section is adapted to the growth of cereals, tobacco and cotton. Truck growing is one of the important industries. Apples and peaches are important crops and some sub-tropical fruits are grown. In 1920 the state had 269,763 farms, averaging in size 74.2 acres, 30.4 acres improved. The white farmers were 193,473 in number, the negro farmers, 76,290; Indian, 1,440; Chinese, 1. The farms worked by their owners numbered 151,376, by managers, 928; by tenants, 117,459 (43.5 per cent). 32.8 per cent of the white farmers and 70.7 per cent of the negroes were tenants.
